

Hope and prayers sustaining family of injured Edmund Szczepanik

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

A Granite City youth seriously injured July 7, 1976, when struck by a car on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus remains a patient at The Colonades.

Sixteen months and 10 days ago, Edmund Michael Szczepanik, then 18, suffered severe head injuries and was totally unconscious for a lengthy period of time.

To date, he has not yet spoken and is unable to respond to any efforts made to communicate with him.

Edmund graduated from Granite City High School South in May 1976 and had been accepted as a freshman student at SIUE, beginning that September.

He had attended a Mississippi River Festival concert the night of July 7, 1976, and was walking across North Drive on the SIUE campus when struck by a vehicle operated by a Ferguson, Mo., man.

The motorist was charged with driving under the influence of liquor.

Edmund was taken by ambulance to Wood River Township Hospital, where he underwent surgery lasting over three hours. He failed to regain consciousness, however.

After several weeks, he was transferred to Firmin DeLoe Hospital, St. Louis, a facility noted for its extensive work with patients suffering injuries to the head.

Several brain scans were taken over the intervening weeks.

Later, he was moved to St. Elizabeth Hospital here for about a month and then was transferred to Jewish Hospital, St. Louis.

He was a patient at Jewish Hospital for seven months.

"They really worked with him at Jewish but they were unable to help him because he does not respond to a command," Mrs. Helen Szczepanik, the young man's mother, said Wednesday.

"The minute he does react to a command, the doctors at Jewish Hospital want him back to work with him again," she added.

Edmund is over six feet tall and weighed more than 165 pounds at the time of the accident.

At one point during his prolonged confinement in four hospitals, he was down to 90 pounds.

In the past few months, he has learned to chew and to swallow the food, and his weight is slowly progressing upward, his mother said. He now weighs about 130 pounds.

Edmund became a patient at The Colonades on June 4, 1977, and his mother is thankful that he is now closer to home. She believes her son has made some progress.

Determined to build jail

Granite City will find some way to build a proposed new police station and jail complex despite a setback caused by bid offers that are too high to be acceptable, Mayor Paul Schuler told the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

Council members, after hearing a report on bids for the project, submitted Nov. 9, voted unanimously to authorize Mayor Schuler, City Attorney George Filcoff and City Engineer Monroe Brewer to negotiate with the bidders in an effort to arrive at an acceptable construction cost.

The lowest combination of bids for the proposed police station-jail complex to be built on Madison Avenue adjacent to the No. 1 Fire Station, totaled $983,396, which is $4.2 per cent above the construction cost estimate of $734,119 prepared by

M. W. Architects & Engineers, a St. Louis planning firm handling the engineering work for the project.

City Clerk Robert Stevens told the aldermen that three general construction bids were received at the Nov. 9 bid opening, the lowest for $915,900 by M. H. Wolf Co. Other bids were by Ed Moore Construction Co. at $1,080,000 and L. Wolf at $925,310.

Four companies bid on furnishings and security equipment, with the lowest offer made by Fries Correction Equipment Co. at $64,400. Only one bid was received for flooring from Butler Flooring Co. at $5,995.

Stevens reported that the city faces three alternatives: attempt to negotiate an acceptable contract, increase the city's share of the cost, or to obtain an extension of time on its federal grant to permit a revision of the design and a new call for bids.

The city has a $744,000 Public

McPike issues '78 declaration of independence

Currently in his first term, State Representative Jim McPike of Alton said Tuesday he opposes slating and won't seek formal Democratic endorsement for renomination in the 56th District.

"A newspaper reporter once asked me if I was an independent," he said in a letter to the party's committeemen. "My immediate, unqualified response was that I am a Democrat, a moderate, reform-minded Democrat. I vigorously support the Democratic national and state platforms. "I try to speak and vote for the working men and women of my district and of the state."

"Steelworkers, machinists, teachers, firemen, clerks and small businessmen — along with thousands of other people from all walks of life who cherish the American ideals of equal justice, full employment and personal freedoms — are the backbone of the Democratic party," McPike continued. "Ours is the party of Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy, Johnson and Carter. It is a party that has known defeat when Adlai Stevenson lost, tragedy when Bobby Kennedy was killed, dissension when George Wallace spoke out, and great amusement when

Callis chosen

Lance Callis, a Granite City attorney, will be appointed to succeed George Filcoff as city attorney of Granite City when Filcoff assumes his duties as associate judge of the Third Judicial Circuit early in December, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

Mayor Paul Schuler, who will make the appointment, is not expected to take such action until Filcoff resigns the city post to assume his duties as an associate circuit judge. Filcoff also has been serving as corporation counsel of Madison and will resign that office before assuming the judgeship.

Filcoff's appointment as an associate judge was announced last week by Chief Circuit Judge Vitor J. Moale to fill a vacancy in the associate judge ranks created when the Illinois Supreme Court promoted Associate Judge Judge Matoesian to circuit judge until the November 1978 election. Callis has been serving as an assistant city attorney for the past several years, primarily in connection with development of special projects involving federal and state grant funds. He has been on the city payroll at a salary of $2,210 per year.

Filcoff, who has served as city attorney of Granite City since June 1, 1973, has served as head of the city's legal staff of four attorneys and has handled the bulk of City Council legal matters, sitting in at each

WAITING IN LINE. Veterans and their relatives who wish assistance in applying for VA programs encounter lengthy waits nearly every Tuesday when the Department of Veterans' Affairs Service Officer Freeman Cinarad (seated) visits the basement of the Granite City Hall. Some disabled veterans say there is no place to sit and they are unable to stand for long periods of time. Authorities say there is no place available in the hall except the basement lobby. An offer of a better place for the weekly sessions would be welcomed by many veterans.

Granite City Steel is open to representatives of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board, a spokesman emphasized this week in voicing interest in helping to seek air quality solutions.

The city staff utilized an Illinois Environmental Protection Agency employee in obtaining samples of a powdery substance this fall at the plant. But the staff conceded yesterday that it had not attempted to carry out the task itself.

Some plant areas are visited daily by technicians representing various governmental levels, the spokesman said.

From other sources, it was learned that concern is developing over "shoot from the lip" procedures in which selected targets' reputations could be damaged by public discussions of assumed misdeeds unverified by evidence and lacking board action.

An industrial official commented there is likely to be attendance at the Air Board's January meeting in an effort to determine the kinds of areas in which alleged evidence and conclusions about such evidence can be evaluated and dealt with.

A city representative said this week that, other than verbal public allegations, opacity reports, violation forms, inspection reports and dialogue with suspected offenders.

Hod 3 in robbery probe

Three men and a woman, all of Granite City, were held in the Madison jail today pending the filing of charges related to an aggravated assault case in Granite City and an armed robbery in South Roxana last night.

John Whitford, 17, of 2810 W. 22nd St., told police at 9:50 p.m. Wednesday that a man fired a shot at him outside Green's Confectionary, Denver Street and Rock Road.

Whitford said he and several friends were standing outside the confectionary when a black over gray auto stopped across the street and a passenger got out, held a handgun on the car's roof with both hands, aimed at the group and yelled, "If you've got something to say to me, say it now or get going."

When he cocked the pistol, the group ran in different directions. The gunman then yelled, "Hold it," and fired a shot toward Whitford, it was related.

The bullet went through the soles of Whitford's sneakers and lodged in a soft drink can stacked against the wall.

The man with the gun then got back in the car with two other occupants and they drove west on Rock Road.

Police broadcast a description of the car and its occupants to nearby police departments and Pontoon Beach officers stopped an auto at 12:20 a.m. today on Pontoon Road and Route 111.

They took the name of the driver and contacted Granite City, but released the driver and three passengers after seeing an auto with the same match the description of the one sought.

Later they found out the car matched only the one they wanted by Granite City, but also an auto seen leaving the scene 1 p.m. today, Nov. 17, at BOB THOMAS MEMORIAL MORTUARY Chapel, 2205 Pontoon Road, Interment National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Two men were injured when the auto of John Logan Jr., 300 Lake Drive, Lot 142, Pontoon Beach, went out of control on Route 203 and hit a utility pole and a fence along Edwardsville Road east of Nameoki Road at 9:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Logan said his eastbound auto struck the median, crossed to the south side, knocked down a utility pole and went into the Granite City Steel cyclone fence, leaving down 50 feet of the fence.

Logan and a passenger in his auto, James Wood, 27, Edgemont, Ill., were taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Wood was admitted with a cut over his left eye and an abrasion to his right lower leg.

Logan was treated for multiple cuts to his face and an abrasion to his left knee. He was released after X-rays were taken.

Shrinking an average of 500 pupils annually for the past five years, School District Nine has trimmed its staff, reduced class sizes and established learning centers in unused space.

Stallings was chosen for study this year because of the building's age, operating and maintenance costs and the fact that all but about ten students are transported. If all were assigned to other schools, school bus costs wouldn't rise, a spokesman said.

Municipal authorities have little air quality power except urging state action or filing a city lawsuit.

James Henry, city air engineer, said yesterday evening he is relying on written agreements with the Illinois Institute of Technology, a private group in Chicago, in reaching conclusions about local pollution.

In an Oct. 13 letter not made available until yesterday evening, Ronald G. Dreife, science advisor, fine particles research, said he blames steel mill emissions, probably sinister operations.

He reported tentative identification of calcium hydroxide, which he said with moisture could attack automobiles' acrylic paint.

Second Ward Alderman Fred P. Schuman Jr., chairman of the City Council's Air Pollution Committee, reported to the council Tuesday night on a Nov. 8 meeting of the Air Pollution Control Board.

He said a discussion of lead levels was "inconsequential because there are no state standards to go by."

Schuman said that the board is awaiting a written report on an analysis of flyash thought to be settling onto cars and homes.

Mayor Paul Schuler said that if the source can be identified, the information will be made available to anyone "who has suffered damage."

A St. Elizabeth Hospital spokesman said today he has discussed a blood test program with Mayor Schuler on several occasions.

While promising some type of program, if a need is established, the hospital official said records here show so few indications of lead in blood tests that a special clinic doesn't appear justified.

"Doctors don't believe such a program is necessary, and the Public Health Department says it agrees there is little need for such tests."

"Physicians say that blood tests made in relation to medical cases seldom show any indication of lead."

"Our records show only one case of lead poisoning in the last year and a half, and that involved a lead employee."

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

GIRLS
Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Stovall, 2140 Robert Ave., Nov. 15, Jessica Lynn, four pounds, seven and one half ounces.

BOYS
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Staggs Jr., 2200 Iowa St., Nov. 15, Joshua Shawn, eight pounds, eight ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duff, 1702 Garfield Ave., Nov. 16, Ryan Christopher, eight pounds, eight ounces.

Four injured
Two men were injured when the auto of John Logan Jr., 300 Lake Drive, Lot 142, Pontoon Beach, went out of control on Route 203 and hit a utility pole and a fence along Edwardsville Road east of Nameoki Road at 9:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Logan said his eastbound auto struck the median, crossed to the south side, knocked down a utility pole and went into the Granite City Steel cyclone fence, leaving down 50 feet of the fence.

Logan and a passenger in his auto, James Wood, 27, Edgemont, Ill., were taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Wood was admitted with a cut over his left eye and an abrasion to his right lower leg.

Logan was treated for multiple cuts to his face and an abrasion to his left knee. He was released after X-rays were taken.

Shrinking an average of 500 pupils annually for the past five years, School District Nine has trimmed its staff, reduced class sizes and established learning centers in unused space.

Stallings was chosen for study this year because of the building's age, operating and maintenance costs and the fact that all but about ten students are transported. If all were assigned to other schools, school bus costs wouldn't rise, a spokesman said.

Municipal authorities have little air quality power except urging state action or filing a city lawsuit.

James Henry, city air engineer, said yesterday evening he is relying on written agreements with the Illinois Institute of Technology, a private group in Chicago, in reaching conclusions about local pollution.

In an Oct. 13 letter not made available until yesterday evening, Ronald G. Dreife, science advisor, fine particles research, said he blames steel mill emissions, probably sinister operations.

He reported tentative identification of calcium hydroxide, which he said with moisture could attack automobiles' acrylic paint.

Second Ward Alderman Fred P. Schuman Jr., chairman of the City Council's Air Pollution Committee, reported to the council Tuesday night on a Nov. 8 meeting of the Air Pollution Control Board.

He said a discussion of lead levels was "inconsequential because there are no state standards to go by."

Schuman said that the board is awaiting a written report on an analysis of flyash thought to be settling onto cars and homes.

New computer unit speeds police work

Granite City police have been able to run computer checks on license plate numbers and wanted persons much faster since Wednesday when a new state-owned computer terminal went into operation in the police department's radio room.

Several new computer terminals were purchased by the state under an Illinois Law Enforcement Commission grant and are being loaned without charge, to selected police departments, including Granite City.

Use of the computer terminal, however, is not free since the city has to pay for the Western Union lines connecting it to the main computers, and that price tag is more than $425 per month, about $50 per month more than the old police teletype.

Officers say the new terminal will be worth the extra expense, due to its versatility.

It links directly with the computers of the National Crime Information Center in Washington, D.C., the Law Enforcement Data System, the secretary of state, and all other states in the computer network, including Missouri.

License numbers introduced into the Granite City terminal result in the name and address of the car owner and other pertinent data being received back within seconds—including Missouri license plates.

While the system claims an average response of 40 to 60 seconds to return information, police report responses in less than five seconds, in some instances.

The computer can check for wanted persons or stolen guns, vehicles, articles or license plates, all within seconds.

Davis, Macios are winners in election suit

Chief Circuit Judge Victor J. Moese has ruled that Harold Davis was elected supervisor of Nameoki Township and Carl Macios was elected township tax assessor during April balloting.

The order, which is subject to appeal, dismisses an election contest by the former supervisor, Louis Whitteit, and assessor candidate Loren Madison, who were unsuccessful in the election by narrow margins.

The ruling does not affect the trustee race, in which Mrs.

Helen Hawkins received more votes in a court-ordered recount of the ballots than Trustee Jerry Adams.

Moese has ruled to dismiss Mrs. Hawkins' suits, but has yet to set a date for a hearing on her motion to reconsider those dismissals.

Sources indicate Moese signed the order Monday afternoon, but there was no official announcement of the action.

Moese said he found no fraud, deceit or other evidence indicating tampering with the ballots or the "reasonable opportunity" of anyone to tamper with them.

He said the only issue of concern to the court is six missing ballots, but declared Davis the winner because, even if the six were awarded to Whitteit, he still would lose by two votes.

He said the six ballots could affect the assessor race, but decided to "pro-itate" the ballots between the two candidates, giving each three more votes.

Macios then was declared the winner with 1,492 votes to 1,490 for Madison.

Moese said he felt the protesting was the best of the alternatives which could include calling a new election, ignoring the six ballots or ignoring the results in precinct four and five, from which the ballots disappeared.

The "enormous cost" of a new election was cited and Moese said he felt ignoring two precincts would be the "most excuse or judicial discretion which this court has seen."

$10,000 damage caused by fire

Fire caused an estimated $10,000 damage early this week to the home of Granite City State St. resident Gene Mullen, 2138.

Mullen was recuperating from surgery at home when his son discovered a fire upstairs. Mullen got his wife and four children out of the house and attempted to extinguish the fire until firemen arrived.

He commended his fellow firefighters for arriving quickly and halting the fire, which could easily have destroyed the entire house.

An electrical short-circuit in the upstairs wiring was believed responsible.

Veizer opposes firing of Bossio

Gary Bossio, 31-year-old director of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGS), for the past two years, is without a job—and some officers of the MEGSI board of directors are not happy about it.

Board Vice-Chairman Ronald J. Veizer, chief of police in Granite City, said he was not told the MEGSI Board was to meet Monday night. "And I am not the only one."

During that meeting, Bossio's position was "terminated" and Charles Zukas of Granite City, a Madison County sheriff's deputy, was appointed acting agent-in-charge. Legal advertisements announcing the opening for full-time agent-in-charge were approved.

Board Chairman Mearl Justus, chief of police of Juchukia, who is responsible for calling the MEGSI board members to meetings, had to face an angry group of board members at last night's Southern Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police in Carbondale.

"He did not have too much to say to us," Veizer said. "He explained we were no longer on the board, since our departments do not presently have agents in MEGSI. That is not the way we understood it. The board was to remain the same until funding was straightened out."

A state grant has been approved for MEGSI, which formerly operated under a federal grant.

"We did not have an agent in MEGSI because we were asked not to bring one in until the funding is adequate. We have a man ready to go," Veizer said. He said he believes the move was "an economy measure" under the new state guidelines, since Bossio was paid $23,000 a year as director and the agent-in-charge position is being advertised as an $18,000 per year position.

"As I understand it, Bossio is welcome to apply for that position, but will have to take $18,000 a year. I guarantee we are going to have a meeting on this very soon," Veizer concluded.

Gold Watches Are For The Birds

Retire Rich With A Tax Sheltered Nest Egg From Granny

That gold watch they'll give you when you retire will give you time on your hands... and not much else. Build the retirement security you'll need with a tax-deferred IRA or KEOGH account from Granite City Trust.

If you're not covered at work... Put away up to $1500 or up to 15% of your yearly gross income (whichever is less) in a tax-sheltered retirement fund.

If you're self-employed... Put away up to $7500 or up to 15% of your yearly net income (whichever is less) in a tax-sheltered retirement fund.

Either way, the amount you add each year is tax free. And the high interest we add (up to 7.75%) is tax free, too. You will pay taxes on the money you withdraw, but you'll probably be retired and in a lower tax bracket then.

Abortion funds will be debated

"Abortion: Federal versus Local Money" will be the controversial topic for WSIE-FM's Firing Line on Sunday, Nov. 20, at 5:30 p.m. WSIE-FM (88.7) is owned and operated by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In 1973, the Supreme Court ruled that abortions could be obtained by federal funding. Since that time, 300,000 Medicaid abortions each year have been paid for out of tax funds.

Moral objections have been raised about using tax dollars for the purpose of terminating a pregnancy. In June, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of legislatures to deny use of tax funds for indiscriminate abortions and, in doing so, ratified the constitutionality of the so-called "Hyde Amendment."

The decision held that public funds need not be used for elective abortions; however, it didn't say the legislature couldn't choose to appropriate them for that purpose.

The constitutionality of the Hyde Amendment has yet to be determined by the Supreme Court.

Guests on the William F. Buckley show will include Henry J. Hyde, congressman from Illinois, and Attorney Harriet Pipel, Miss Pipel, whose interests include family planning, women's rights and civil liberties, believes that abortion is a moral question that should be "left to the individual conscience of every human being."

Hyde admits that he is trying to use economic pressures in order to bring on a moral result. "I am trying to stop abortions any way I legally and humanly can."

"An unwanted pregnancy could become a wanted child. Abortion has become a retroactive contraception," he contends.

The society was founded in 1897 at the University of Maine and the UIUC chapter was established in 1955.

'These guys have a great feeling for each other ...

Reflections on a winning season

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor

The shouts of joy have now faded. The accomplishment has been made. It's been a very successful season for Gene Baker. He's done just about everything he set out to do way back on Aug. 31 when the season began with a 16-0 win over Waterloo.

Of course, the season was culminated last Saturday night in DeKalb when his soccer Warriors from GCHS South won their second straight state championship with a convincing victory over Chicago Schurz, 6-1.

BUT SANDWICHED in between those two victories was a season filled with much controversy, many wins and a few surprises. How does Baker feel as he looks back on one of the most successful seasons in IHSA soccer history?

"This team has had to go through an awful lot of adversity," said Baker. "There was the probation thing, of course."

What Baker refers to is the fact that South was placed on indefinite probation by the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) about mid-season for having an illegal practice with Rockhurst College of Kansas City.

"Another thing that Baker feels was adversity was the pattern of constant injuries that plagued his Warrior team."

"Dave (Goldschmidt) had torn cartilage early in the year and didn't even play the first six games or so," said Baker. "He finally came back and did a great job for us."

"He's going to have surgery soon to repair it. But he was living (and playing) under the pressure of knowing that while he was in a game, at any time his knee could have gone out from under him and that would have been that."

"David Fernandez was bumped around and played hurt a lot this season."

SO BAKER HAS THE DISTINCTION of being the only soccer coach to ever have back-to-back state championships in Illinois. In fact, in any IHSA sport, back-to-back champions are a rarity.

But because the state soccer tourney is just in its sixth year, it could well go down in history that Granite City—and GCHS South in particular—was one of the Perhaps what Collinsville and Lawrenceville are for downstate basketball, Granite City is for downstate soccer.

"I think that there was a lot more pressure on us this year than last," said Baker. "Everyone was going after us from the first game on."

"Especially when we got to the state tournament. Every game was a tough one until the finals ... and we knew that Schurz had the talent and potential to be very hard to beat."

"Those first two games could have gone either way. But we came through."

ONE OF THE THINGS about this year's South team was the cohesiveness of the team members. The way they passed, dribbled and shot and seemed to know exactly where their teammates were going to be reminds one of the great Thorndike basketball teams of the early '70s with Quinn Buckner, Boyd Batts and Company.

"These guys have a great feeling for each other," said Baker. "They stuck together, played well together and just did well as a team."

"I really don't think there was a single player who could stand out as the 'star.' Greg Feigh had a great season, he broke the state's season scoring record and was first in the St. Louis area. But if he had a bad game, and even if he didn't, Mark Goldschmidt was right there. People forget that he also broke the season scoring record."

And don't forget Gary Phelps, David Fernandez, Steve Spencer, Fred Schuler ... the list goes on and on.

WHAT ABOUT NEXT SEASON? Most of the starters that have made up the South varsity for the past four years will graduate.

"We'll have a real good nucleus. (David) Fernandez will be here for three more years. Fred Schuler will be back. David Mendoza, Steve Spencer ... It's almost impossible to name them all."

But for right now, it's kind of nice just to sit back and savor two state championships in a row.

Cougars in basketball exhibition Saturday

The general public will get its first look at the 1977-78 Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville basketball team this Saturday when Coach Jim Dudley takes his Cougar cagers to Johnston City for an intra-squad game.

The game will be played in the Johnston City High School gym, scene of hundreds of starring roles of one of SIUE's top players, Keil Peebles, as a prep player. The gym, dubbed "Peebles Palace" by many of Keil's fans, will witness the unveiling of what promises to be the strongest SIUE squad overall ever assembled. Tipoff time Saturday is 7:30 p.m.

Another Johnston City standout prep player now a collegian, Keil's younger brother, Neal, will be on the 15-

North wins Myro Ryse Sportsmanship Award

South wasn't the only soccer team from Granite City to win something at the just-completed state tourney ... North did, too.

"The Steeles' Sportsmanship Award for the entire state of Illinois, as voted upon by the Illinois High School Soccer Coaches Association at a meeting held during the tournament in DeKalb."

"It's voted upon sort of like the all-state team," said Kehoe. "Each coach in the state is given two cards at the beginning of the season to write down the name of a team which he feels deserves the award."

"They can be sent in at any time during the season. At the tournament, there were about 105 coaches at a meeting who voted on the finalists. I guess we came up with enough votes."

Kehoe said it gives him a good feeling to know that he has instilled something into his players which has just how to kick a soccer ball.

"They can't play soccer all their life," he added. "And I think it's good that they've earned that."

ONE THING Kehoe adds in discussing the Steeles' award: "It really is kind of ironic. This year marked the first time I was ever thrown out of a game for arguing with an official (against South in the first round of the Illinois-South game), and a couple of my players were thrown out of games, too."

"But these were isolated incidents," he said. "I think they conducted themselves very well out on the field."

So, in addition to the all-state selection of two Steeles (Mike Hill and Eric Thornburg), North's Kicker has the sportsmanship award.

The award is named for Myro Ryse, an outstanding Chicago prep soccer player who left school to play for the Chicago Sting of the North American Soccer League. During the off-season two years ago, he was killed in an automobile accident in Europe.

For next season, Kehoe views it this way: "We'll have a good group of guys coming back. We were a pretty young team this season and I think an extra year of maturity and experience will do nothing but help. I'm definitely looking forward to next season."

Perhaps the Steeles will win something else at the state tourney then.

Basketball contest, clinic set at South

The Granite City South basketball squad will hold an intra-squad scrimmage involving all grades — this Friday, Nov. 18 at 7 p.m.

Immediately prior to the game, Coach "Babe" Champion, head baseball coach at South and a highly-respected basketball official, will conduct a clinic on any new rules set for the 1977-78 season and a refresher course on many of the old rules that fans aren't aware of or don't understand. Anyone may attend. There will be no charge.

All of the activity will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of GCHS South.

Rascals in title games

It will be "Super Sunday" here this weekend as both Granite City Rascals' football teams will be involved in playoff championship finals of their divisions of the Tri-County Junior Football Conference. Both won their first round games during the past weekend.

Each luck had a big hand in setting up the championship doubleheader, as both teams won the toss of the coin to see which would be the home team for the championship game.

In the first game Sunday (at the South High School field), the Rascals Midget team, winner of the Midnet Division, will attempt to shut down the high-scoring Belleville Devils No. 2 squad at 1 p.m.

The Devils finished in first place in the South Division with a perfect 9-0 record. The Devils' offense will be up against a Rascals' defense that has allowed only three opposing scores and has recorded six shutouts.

The Rascals advanced to the finals by stopping the Belleville Knights last weekend, 12-0.

In the second game, at 3 p.m. Sunday, the Rascals Junior Football team will play the Belleville Knights No. 2 team for the championship of its division.

In an earlier meeting this season, the Rascals won 6-0 in a game which gave them the division championship.

They advanced to Sunday's game by defeating the Belleville Knights No. 2 team 12-6 when Sean McGovern scored a TD in the second overtime.

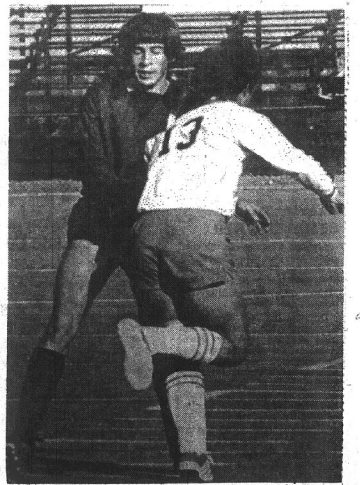

'Face' plays reckless; but the fans love it

Greg "Face" Makowski is one of the athletes sports fans dearly love to watch. He's exciting, skillful and plays with a daring and reckless elan that sometimes borders on the dangerous side — to himself as well as his opponents.

The possibility of his sustaining physical injury apparently never occurs to him. Makowski, one of the three captains (Chris Cacciatori, John Zacheis are the others) of this year's Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team, is a centerback on the Cougars' nationally-ranked team.

He and Mike Kelley are SIUE's first line of defense ahead of keepers Dave Dolphus and Bob Robson and wingbacks Bob Gallaher and Dave Hurd.

His defensive skills have been recognized across the nation: his sophomore and junior seasons, he was named to the Division I NCAA all-American team. He's considered a cinch to repeat this year and should be the No. 1 soccer draft choice.

Cougar opponents have recognized his defensive play, true, but they are also grudgingly aware of his offensive skills.

At any moment during a Cougar game, he can take off, lightning fast, toward an opponent's goal. If he doesn't penetrate clear in for a shot and a goal, he is able to set up scoring plays.

He's tied for second place as SIUE's leading scorer with four goals along with Chris Cacciatori. Don Ebert, a freshman, leads all Cougar scorers with 14 points on 11 goals and three assists.

Makowski's career at SIUE has been filled with dramatic moments. One of the most notable, of course, was his play in the game against Quincy College in the championship final of the International Youth Tournament at Amsterdam, Holland (August 1976) — his sophomore year.

Asked if he thought the Cougars would make it through the Midwest Regional NCAA Division I tournament for a shot at the national championship, Greg said simply, "Yes."

SIUE plays at home Sunday against Indiana in the first round of the regional.

"I know we have the talent, but in addition, I have another reason for wanting to make it. My girlfriend is teaching grade school in the San Francisco area, and the finals of the NCAA will be held at Cal-Berkeley Dec. 3-4."

Says Makowski: "California, here we come."

It's been a very good Fall . . .

Yes, it's been a very good Fall sports season overall for the Quad-Cities area. The first thing that comes to most minds is the state championship just won by the Granite City South soccer team. But there were many, many other things that made this Fall a successful one.

The North soccer squad didn't do too bad, either. They were ranked in the top five all season in the state and made it as high as number two. They lost only two games all season.

The Steeler football team started the season on a high note with a shutout and ended it on a high note by thrashing West Frankfort. In between was an up-and-down season that saw them go into two overtime games and split them, take back the city football championship, but miss contention for the post-season playoffs for the first time in a long while.

The South gridiron squad went through an injury-riddled season that saw them lose perhaps their most valuable player, Jay Huebner, with a broken leg before the season even began. But they never let up, they won two games and were in most of the games they lost.

The South and North cross country teams both had a successful year. South didn't make it through the districts, but had a good season. North won the District, but the only team member who made it to state was one of Illinois' premier runners, Mike Baker.

South's girls' tennis team had a good campaign, also. They had a winning season and won the city title over North, which also performed well.

Madison had the most successful football season they've had in a long while. They finished above the 500 mark with a 5-4 record which included wins over highly-touted Columbia and state-playoff-bound Dupu. They spoiled an unbeaten season for Dupu on the last weekend of the season, 22-14.

There were three big North-South games this Fall: two in soccer and one in football. The results? One win for each school and a tie. You can't get much closer than that.

North's golfers were very successful. They qualified as a team for the sectional meet which they hosted. South's 'Dutch' Schroeder went as an individual.

There was girls field hockey, and volleyball, which is still going on and will bridge the gap between Fall and Winter sports in the Quad-Cities.

In just about two weeks, the basketball and wrestling seasons start and will dominate these pages. But for just a moment, let's reflect on all that's been accomplished this Fall.

A textbook written by Anthony Finchen Jr. will be used nationally as a result of its having been chosen for publication by the United States Judo Association. Finchen is judo instructor for Belleville Area College. He has been a student of Kodokan Judo for 20 years.

In his book, he answers such basic questions as: Is anything worn beneath the judogi (uniform)? as well as introducing techniques that he learned from the Japanese and Koreans but which are not found in books now in print.

Finchen also emphasizes the philosophical and artistic aspects of Kodokan Judo and the Japanese terminology and basic rules of dress and conduct.

The first edition of Finchen's book was published by BAC under the title of "Collegiate Judo for the Freshman."

Seek basketball officials

The Granite City Park District is now accepting applications for officials and scorers for the upcoming basketball programs beginning the week of Nov. 28.

Games will be played Monday through Thursday evenings. Interested persons may contact the park district office in Wilson Park, it was announced.

Joggers up to 668 miles

Participants in the YMCA men's fitness class have now jogged a total of 668 miles. The following people contributed heavily to that total with a 100 percent attendance level for the week of Nov. 7 through Nov. 11: Dr. Chris Geroff, John Morton, Floyd Watson, Dan Mitchell, Edwin Reinagel, Gene Grace, George Gregus, George Wolfe, John Suarez, Ron Johnson, Dr. William Frits, Robert Patton and John Sager.

Dan Mitchell, Gene Grace, George Gregus, George

Wolfe and Ron Johnson have not missed a class since beginning their fitness program. Classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:15 a.m., 12 noon and 5:15 p.m. and last for about 45 minutes.

The cardiovascular-based program is pulse-rate monitored, with each participant recording his own pulse rates. Those interested in the class may contact Ed Mercer at the "Y" at 876-7200.

Hoosiers protest seedings

Cougars get NCAA bid; host Indiana Sunday

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer Cougars received a bid Monday afternoon to compete in the post-season NCAA Division I playoffs.

They have been seeded second in the Midwest Region, behind Cleveland State. The number 3 seed is Indiana University and the fourth seed is SIUE's across-the-river rival, St. Louis University.

The Hoosiers of Indiana U., however, protested the third seed they were given, feeling that they should have been ranked ahead of the Cougars. A hearing was held Monday evening and the NCAA decided to leave the rankings as they already were.

The reason that Indiana felt it was deserving of a higher ranking was that it has the second-best record among the four Midwest finalists at 14-1-1 (Cleveland State is 14-0-1).

But the NCAA office said the main ingredient in the seedings is not records, but toughness of schedules combined with the records.

They said that the Cougars' 9-2-1 slate was better when taking into account the tough teams they played this season. St. Louis' record is 12-4-1.

Also added to the already complicated situation was the fact that SIUE defeated Indiana 1-0 on the first week of the season in an exhibition game in Evansville, Ind.

The team that was most worried as to whether or not it would receive a bid was perennial power St. Louis U.

Ranked as the number one team in the nation for most of the year, the Billikens lost their last two games in a row, to SIUE and to Indiana.

The Midwest Regional will get under way this weekend with the number one seed, Cleveland State, playing host to St. Louis U. Friday afternoon. The Cougars will host Indiana Sunday afternoon at 1. The game was originally scheduled for Saturday, but was moved because of the Indiana-Purdue football game at Indiana Saturday. The Hoosiers wanted their fans to be able to see both games.

Both teams will be out for revenge, the Hoosiers for a 1-0 loss to the Cougars earlier this season, and SIUE because of a loss to Indiana in the finals of the Midwest regional last year at Indiana. The Cougars hold a 2-1 lead over the Hoosiers in the two teams' series.

Johnson wins again; takes Wisconsin Open

Judy Johnson, a Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville freshman from Alton, won her third straight all-around title in the annual Wisconsin Open gymnastic tournament during the weekend in Milwaukee.

Eighty-five elite and advanced gymnasts from eight states competed in the optional meet.

She earned a second on the beam (9.25), second on the vault (9.35), second on the bars (9.05), and fourth on the floor events (8.10).

She is a member of the Alton Jet Gymnastic Club, coached by Larry Moehn, a physical education instructor at SIUE.

SIUE Coach Bob Guelker has announced that there will not be any advance tickets sold for Sunday's game. Indiana University and SIUE students with identification cards will be admitted for $1. All others will be charged $2 at the Cougar Field admission gates.

Said Guelker: "The game should be one of the best of the season; they have an excellent team and soccer fans no doubt will be treated to an outstanding contest."

The Indiana lineup is liberally laced with St. Louis area players. And each team has posted a one-goal win over St. Louis University this season. Consequently, it isn't surprising that the two schools play much the same basic style of soccer.

'Y' swimmers fall at St. Charles

The Tri-City Area YMCA swim team competed against the St. Charles, Mo. YMCA team in the first meet of the year at the St. Charles Boys Club in Blanchette Park, St. Charles, during the weekend.

Spectators said the team acquitted itself well. Denise Darwell, the most accomplished swimmer, started the meet in event number one, competing in levels two age groups above her. She took a second place.

Liz Oyen, the least experienced swimmer, took first place in her backstroke race. The 84-event meet was participated in by 26 swimmers.

Top performances were by Stephanie Brandt with two first places, Carole Mitchell, who won each race she entered, Mary Brandt, who took second place in every race she swam in and John Amish, who won three first place ribbons. Lisa Louie captured three first places and won an exhibition race. Anita and Angela Durbin were a devastating team on any relay, and Elizabeth Wilson earned two first places. Many additional place ribbons were won by competitive efforts on the part of Dorothy Popamarkoff, Carole Bush, Kathy Lorden, Krista Lorden, Joelle Kalicki, Ed Lorden, Dawn Kostell, David Oyen, Connie Popamarkoff, Paula Bills, Tracy Windland, Kristy Toussaint, Kathy Fuller, Mary Chris Barnett, Greg Barnett and Vincent Darnell.

Although Granite City lost 271-248, the coach, John Fernandez, complimented the entire team on its performance.

Aldermen, police plan new talks on job pact

Granite City Council members agreed Tuesday night to arrange a meeting between the full council membership and representatives of the Granite City Police Union Local 1947 in an effort to resolve differences over a new working agreement for members of the Police Department.

The caucus session in which the council and police representatives will discuss terms of a new agreement which the aldermen have refused to approve will be arranged by Alderman Warren Decatur, chairman of the council's Negotiating Committee which has been handling discussions on new agreements for all city departments.

Agreement to meet with police representatives as a full council was made at the request of Capt. Bob Astorian, chief of detectives, who addressed the council in behalf of department employees. He told the aldermen that police employees "are anxious to resolve this problem."

Astorian told the aldermen: "We want to reach some sort of agreement. This negotiation started back in April when we submitted a proposal. In past years, an agreement has been reached within several months, but this year it has been different."

"We heard nothing on our proposal for about three months, so we assumed it was acceptable and would be approved. It's hard to find out you have lost something you counted on getting."

"We want it (the agreement) voted on the floor. We want to get it resolved."

Alderman Sam Whitmer said he believed Astorian's request for a full council caucus with police department negotiators "is a good idea" and suggested the council also meet with representatives of the fire department and street department. Working agreements with those two departments still are unsettled.

Alderman Clyde Boyd, however, asked Astorian if he felt that the committee of police department negotiators would come into such a caucus session "with flexibility" in regard to the contract terms that are in dispute.

Astorian noted that the union representatives have made changes in their proposals, but that he could not say how flexible the committee would be "because we don't know now what will happen in the meeting."

Council members have agreed to salary raises in a three-year working agreement, providing 6 per cent this year, 6 per cent next year and 8.5 per cent the third year, but balked at a provision proposed by the police union to provide paid hospitalization and medical insurance for police employees and their families until age 65, regardless of when the employee may retire.

The council approved a motion by Whitmer that a caucus session be held by the council as a whole. Decatur said he would call all of the aldermen this week to determine the best time for such a session, and will make arrangements for the meeting.

THEFT FROM CAR

Works Act grant to be used in construction of the complex, but under Economic Development Administration regulations the city was to have started building work within 90 days of the time the grant was awarded.

Mayor Schuler said that the city has asked the EDA for an extension of time under this regulation, but he told the aldermen that "Even with an extension to time, it is not likely we would have sufficient time to redesign the job to bring down the cost."

As a result, council members decided to negotiate with the bidders. Several aldermen said the city should negotiate only with the low bidder, but Brewer said this is not permitted under EDA regulations.

Any negotiations will have to be with all three of the general construction bidders, he said. Sam Whitmer, alderman of Ward Two, said the city should build the police station even if it has to make up the difference in cost.

"I suggest that we check into our federal revenue sharing account or any other sources of available funds to be sure we don't lose out on this project. We probably won't get a chance like this again," Whitmer said.

"We really need this police station and we have wanted to build it for a long time. There is no way we should let this project go by," he added.

Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward made a motion that the mayor, city attorney and city engineer be authorized to meet with the bidders and attempt to negotiate a contract. The motion was approved unanimously.

Ronald Veizer, chief of police, told the aldermen that the design for the new police station and jail have been inspected by correctional authorities at Springfield "and they say it is one of the finest plans ever drawn. I have been told that the new station would become a model for police units all over the country to follow."

Mayor Schuler said "I am sure it will be built, one way or another."

Tickets available for rally, dance

Tickets still are available for a Republican rally, cocktail party and dance, scheduled from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. Sunday at the Madison County Firemen's Hall, 9510 Collinsville Road.

Costing $7.50 each, the tickets may be obtained from GOP officials and committeemen or at the door Sunday evening. Proceeds will be used in next year's campaign in Madison County.

Congressman Philip Crane, national chairman of the American Conservative Union and a leading opponent of the proposed Panama Canal treaty, will be the featured speaker.

Alexander Butterfield revealed the existence of the White House Taping System.

"It is a party that has never been content with past accomplishments but is constantly striving to be a ribbon-cutting ceremony attended by Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, Colonial Bank board chairman Paul H. Lichtenberger and bank president Donald E. Van Horn. Many others will be on hand for the dedication.

On Sunday, Nov. 27, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., Colonial Bank will host an open house for the public, featuring tours of the new building and vault, refreshments, gifts and balloons, the latter from the Almad Shrine Temple downing.

The Colonial Bank was founded in 1976 and has nearly $5 million in assets. The bank began operation in a temporary building at the intersection of Maryville and Pontoon Roads on June 28, 1976. Work later was begun on the bank's permanent quarters by Ed. Moore Construction Co. of Granite City. The entire banking operation was transferred a few feet to the new building on Oct. 11, 1977.

The new banking facility has three drive-up banking units as well as a night depository. The lighted parking area will provide access from both Maryville and Pontoon Roads when paving work on Maryville Road is completed. At present, only the Pontoon Road entrance is open to customers.

Fire hydrant rental delays Cloverleaf water main job

A snag is threatening to keep a larger water main from being installed to serve the Cloverleaf Subdivision southeast of Madison—where should pay rental for fire hydrants.

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harold Davis told the board Monday night the construction of the water main from the Maeras Industrial Park to Cloverleaf is "ready to go," but the contractor, the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co., will not start the work until it has an open-end contract for rental of four fire hydrants to be served by the new water main.

While the township's Community Development grant will pay the $22,885 cost of constructing the water main, Community Development funds can not be used for rental of fire hydrants, Davis said.

Fire hydrants rent for $49.00 per year each which would bring the cost for four hydrants roughly $200 per year, or $4,000 in a 20-year contract. The board agreed to study the issue and come back with a recommendation at the next meeting.

Hydrants are planned along Central Street at Troy, Alton, Hillside and Collinsville Avenue.

There also was a lengthy discussion at the meeting between Highway Commissioner Frank Mehele and William Nichols, a Layton and Bend roads landowner, over whether it is the township's responsibility to maintain Layton Road.

Nichols contended the township should maintain the road should be maintained by the township. Mehele contended the state has purchased a portion of the road for a state park and that a company on the road should maintain the remainder, since the company uses it for heavily-loaded trucks.

Nichols said the company has been maintaining the road, just to keep in business, but the township should compensate the company for the work which has been done as well as future work the company does on the township portion of the road.

The board also agreed to participate in a program where the Madison County Economic Opportunities Commission is distributing federal grant funds to weatherize the homes of 210 low-income families in Madison County.

Better insulation, storm windows, caulking and other measures to protect the homes against winter weather is planned for homes selected by a policy committee, which is to be formed.

Davis reported Ted Todoroff, director of preparedness (Civil Defense) for Madison County, has requested final state approval for a grant to pay half the cost of installing a tornado warning system in Arlington Heights. Community Development will pay the other half.

It is estimated the siren and equipment will cost $7,844 and installation will be about $2,500. It will serve 125 apartments, 120 homes, 298 homes in the nearby Holiday Mobile Home Park and 80 homes to be constructed in Arlington Heights.

The board agreed to seek bids on the equipment and installation so construction can begin soon after Todoroff receives final state approval. Trustee Norman Hessler reported the township's public relations committee is planning to publish a newsletter for township residents reminding them of township services which are available, including trash and limb pickups, and informing them what the township is doing with their tax funds and grant funds.

Lewis Windsor discovered at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday that the shed door had been pried open and a radio, a 655 camping heater and a gas light had been stolen.

The neighborhood was searched and the heater was found behind a storage shed in the block of Twenty-Seventh Place. Questioning of neighbors resulted in two boys, ages 17 and 15, being sought for investigation. They could not be located at that time.

A short time later, the 15-year-old allegedly was seen beating the 17-year-old Windsor boy at 27th Street and Circle Drive.

BURGLARY ON TUESDAY Two lamps, a portable television set and a jar full of change is known missing from a burglary between 7:15 a.m. and 11:35 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Jacquelyn Ishum, 2301 Independence Drive. Wood covering a broken window in the rear door was removed and the door was opened by reaching through the window to unlock it.

our plans to finish the new plant," Mrs. Szczepanik explained.

Although the medical expenses have been enormous, Mrs. Szczepanik said, "I'm holding my own," the mother said.

For the most part, the medical costs have been borne, so far through the continuing efforts of the Bakers' Union, Local 4, of Greater St. Louis.

Szczepanik said she could not praise highly enough the union members and their officers.

She explained that Edmund had been working after school and on Saturdays at the Colonial Baking Company's Thrift Shop, 4100 Nameoki Road, and had joined the Bakers' Union.

"The union people have bent over backwards to help us. I cannot say enough about their efforts on Edmund's behalf and their continuing interest," she said.

On Sept. 26, Edmund was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for a brain scan and the results were sent to evaluators at Firmin Desloge Hospital.

"I just don't know what they found," the mother said. Asked if he recognizes family

Probation, fine in TV theft case

E. C. Valley, Alton, was sentenced Monday to serve two years of probation and to pay a $500 fine plus court costs after pleading guilty the same day to two theft charges.

Valley is the first to plead guilty of six persons charged with the thefts of about $10,000 worth of television sets and audio equipment from the Bert's Audio-TV Showroom, 1910 Delmar Ave., or subsequent possession of the loot. Among those charged is a Madison County deputy sheriff.

Valley was charged with two felony counts of theft, but in negotiations Monday with Special Prosecutor John Dale Stobbs, an agreement was reached for him to plead guilty to two misdemeanor theft charges and pay a fine.

A jury trial into the charges against Valley was to have started Monday, but was cancelled when the plea was entered.

Valley allegedly accepted stolen items from Robert M. Gayan, 30, Godfrey, to settle a debt Gayan owed him. He officially was charged with theft (by possession) for receiving stolen television sets on or about June 19.

Investigators noted Valley was not involved in taking the items from the store; surrendered the television sets in good condition to police, and was cooperative during most of the investigation, leading to agreement on the reduced charges.

Gayan and Kenneth W. Stover, 20, Alton, who allegedly stole the equipment from the store, are charged with four felony counts of theft each. Stover was an assistant manager for Bert's stores and had keys, it is alleged.

Charged with two felony counts of theft each are Gary L. Rainey, 20, Alton, Mark J. McManis, 22, Godfrey, and Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Larry Bull, 27, Collinsville.

All have been indicted by a Madison County grand jury and are free on bond.

Deputy Bull also faces an unrelated grand jury indictment of arson with intent to defraud an insurance company. It alleges he set fire to his wife's auto Dec. 9, 1976, near Marine, Ill.

One other man is being sought in connection with the theft ring and disposition of stolen property, sources indicate.

At the request of Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas J. Byron, Chief Circuit Judge Victor Motele assigned all cases related to the Bert's theft to a special prosecutor who is not affiliated with his office. Judges from outside the Third Judicial Circuit also were selected.

Circuit Judge Alfred Prezman of Calhoun County has set a Dec. 7 date for a hearing on attorneys' motions on the theft charges against Bull. After hearing those motions, he will set a date for trial.

Stover, Gayan, McManis and Rainey are scheduled for a hearing Jan. 16 before Circuit Judge Howard Lee White of Jerseyville.

DRIVE AGAINST HIGHER TUITION. Jim Grandone (left), SIUE student representative to the SIU Board of Trustees, watches as SIUE President Kenneth A. Shaw places his signature on a petition opposing a tuition increase. Within three hours of circulation, over 700 names had been collected on the petition as a response to Illinois Board of Higher Education recommendations that undergraduate tuition for residents students be increased to one-third of instructional costs by the 1979-80 fiscal year. The university president commented that "the issue at hand is equal access. Studies have shown that access (to higher education) is limited when tuition goes up." Dr. Shaw urged the SIU board "to continue to focus on the societal benefits that accrue from people having a higher education."

Barge bottleneck at Alton still unsolved

(Press-Record Springfield Bureau)

It's a colossal headache for barge traffic on the Mississippi River.

The wait to pass through Locks and Dam 26 at Alton is sometimes more than three days, and a wait of 8 1/2 hours is considered average.

The barge industry estimates each hour's delay costs $200. Barge lines, farmers and factories from the Great Lakes and northern Minnesota down to New Orleans are asking the federal government to replace the ailing facility completed in 1938.

It's too old and broken down to handle the increasing volume of river traffic, they say.

Barge lines' main competitors, railroads, however, have hope Congress will refuse to vote money to eliminate the traffic bottleneck on the nation's largest waterway.

Railroads are joined in their fight by conservationists who fear a new dam could endanger the river ecosystem.

The railroads and environmentalists contend the facility could be repaired at a much lower cost than replacement, and question why taxpayers should subsidize private water transportation.

At the core of the controversy, stands the Army Corps of Engineers, charged with maintaining and operating the nation's inland waterways.

The Corps is asking for $432 million to build a new lock and dam two miles downstream from the present dam. It says repair would cost almost as much as replacement.

"Besides," one Corps official said, "they'd still be 40 years old."

The locks — nestled amid grain elevators and river docks, a literal stone's throw from downtown Alton — are a vital link in important grain exports and fuel transportation to northern factories and power plants, supporters of a new facility say.

The structure is located below the confluence of two of the nation's busiest rivers — the Mississippi and the Illinois. The two rivers reach into upper Minnesota, and to Lake Michigan at Chicago.

Traffic from the two rivers funnels through Locks and Dam 26. Corps officials say it's like putting traffic from two interstate highways onto a two-lane road.

The main lock at Alton is 600 feet long, half the size of the standard barge lock.

Breaking the tow in two, and locking it through in separate pieces, makes a two-hour procedure out of what could take 30 minutes, according to Ken Koller, assistant to the project coordinator for the tow.

The main lock can usually hold nine barges — three abreast and three in line.

The rest of the tow must go through later, or if possible, through the auxiliary lock, which is 300 feet long.

Both locks are 110 feet wide. Barges commonly are 35 feet wide and 200 feet long.

The only other lock facility on the river that handles traffic is Locks 27 at Granite City. The lock is 1,200 feet, and the Corps has proposed for the new lock at Alton. The Granite City project was completed in the early 1950s.

Furthermore, Koller said, standard lock size now is 1,200 feet, and most locks on the Ohio River are that size. Northbound traffic from that river also passes through Lock 26.

There are 26 dams on the Mississippi from the falls of St. Anthony at Minneapolis-St. Paul to Granite City, 700 miles south of Minneapolis.

Above and below Granite City, the Mississippi is joined by two major rivers — the Missouri and the Ohio — and the river runs deep. Barges run through the rest of the way to New Orleans.

The intent of the series of dams is to form a nine-foot-deep channel in which barges may travel. It is, in effect, a chain of lakes.

The locks permit barges by the dams by lowering them from one lake to the next.

The Corps says Locks and Dam 26 has become the weak link in the chain.

The facility reached its "practical capacity" to handle barge traffic in 1970 when it handled 46 million tons of freight.

In 1975 it handled 55 million tons, and last year 58 million tons — more than half of which was grain.

The annual maximum capacity of the lock — assuming a standard day-long delay — would be reached in the early 1980s, Koller said, when a projected 73 million tons of freight would be shipped.

In its first year of operation, 1938, the Alton lock handled 1.4 million tons of grain, petroleum, chemicals and other commodities.

The Corps planned new facility with a 1,200-foot-long lock would increase the maximum capacity to 86 million tons, according to Koller.

The new facility would not have an auxiliary lock, but space would be reserved for one should it be desired later, he said.

If a new dam is built, Koller said, the old dam would remain in place, but a hole would be punched in the middle to allow traffic through.

It would take more than eight years to build the new lock and dam in a way that would permit continuous traffic on the river.

In the meantime, the Corps fears the present facility could cause some trouble. It is falling apart.

Among structural problems noted by the Corps is a 10-inch shift in the river wall of the auxiliary lock. The shifting has warped the sides of the lock and caused cracking in concrete structures.

The Corps has piled earth and stone against the wall to hold it in place, but it can't correct the problem, Koller said.

It also had to close down two of the dam's 33 gates — each nine feet across — to prevent the earthen berm against the wall from washing.

When rains fill the river, the gates are needed to allow the water through the dam, but can't be used, he said.

The Corps closed the main lock for a week in April 1976 to repair the guideway. More than 90 towboats were backed up for several days in the highly publicized traffic jam.

Opponents claim the Corps kept the cell would collapse, but intentionally delayed repairs to dramatize the situation. Repairs could have been made in the winter when the traffic flow was slower, they said.

The Corps denied the allegations. Koller said the Corps has made more than $2 million in repairs in the last couple of years.

The dam is held in place by wooden pilings sunk 35 feet straight down into the river-bottom sand.

The dam has moved nearly two inches, Koller said, and the sand is washing out from under the dam and lock walls in places, exposing the pilings.

A new dam would be held in place by steel pilings set at an angle to the dam and sunk 70 feet to bedrock.

Support for a new dam has been strong. The nation's major farm groups — wanting river access to grain markets — are lobbying hard.

In Illinois, the project has been endorsed by Gov. James Thompson and Director of Agriculture John Block. Sens. Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson also have spoken in favor of the dam.

Illinois, they point out, is a major agricultural producer, and the leading exporting state of farm goods in the nation.

President Carter showed early support for a new dam. He has since qualified that support by indicating he would veto any bill authorizing construction that did not provide for recapturing "substantial" costs through a user fee, a new idea on the nation's rivers.

The fee proposed in a House bill is six cents per gallon for barge fuel. It passed the House by a 331 to 70 vote, but the Senate this month shelved it.

That has postponed action on the bill until next year. Opponents of a new dam claim it as a victory.

They say a six-cent user fee is "tokenism," and would pay for only 10 per cent of the operating cost of the Lock and Dam.

Senate sponsors of the bill feared the small fee would not be approved and avoided a vote by tabling the bill, said John Marlin, who helped organize the railroad-environmental coalition.

Opponents favored a larger fee of 42 cents a gallon on fuel. That fee would have repaid half the construction costs of a new dam and all the operating and maintenance costs of the facility, Marlin said.

An earlier Senate bill had contained the 42-cent provision, but the House did not recognize the bill and it in effect died.

The House ruled that the user fee constituted revenue collection, and all revenue bills are required by the Constitution to originate in the House.

Marlin of Urbana says he favored the Senate version of the bill because it would have required the barges to pay their own way.

Barge traffic is less expensive than rail traffic barges "get a free ride at taxpayer expense," he contends.

Barge operators argue, however, that consumers would pay the bill no matter how the dam would be paid for.

"We'd just have to charge more to haul it, and goods would cost more in the long run (if barge lines paid a user fee)," a barge line executive said.

Sacrifice—answer to energy problems

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

There are answers to our energy problems, but they will call for sacrifices from every American, energy experts predicted during an energy outlook meeting Monday at the Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Higher energy prices and requirements for better home insulation, storm windows and other energy-saving measures are seen as inevitable by most of the speakers at the meeting. While the outlook for adequate supplies of electricity and natural gas is good for Illinois through at least 1985, the supplies here may depend upon energy shortages nationwide and worldwide it was agreed.

Carl E. Mathias, Illinois Power Co. service area manager in Granite City, said Illinois Power should be able to meet increasing demands for electricity, even at peak periods, due to new generating plants now under construction. The 450 megawatt generating station at Clinton, Ill., which will enable Illinois Power to meet the demand and have sufficient reserves of electricity at least through 1983 or 1984, he added.

Illinois Power also predicts it will be able to meet natural gas demands for several years, with the help of eight underground storage facilities IP has developed.

Noting a severe winter is being predicted, Mathias said, "We will be able to meet customer demands for natural gas this winter with no problems predicted." The supply is as good or better than last winter, he noted.

Predicting the long-range future of natural gas is more difficult and the federal energy bill now being hammered out in Congress will have a major effect in determining the role natural gas will play in the future, he added.

Alaskan and off-shore wells on the East Coast must be started if the United States is to continue to use natural gas as a major energy source and to bring down the deficit of trade in energy which is driving prices up, according to Mathias. One thing is clear—all energy prices will increase," Mathias stated.

"Illinois is in good shape for energy for the next few years, but I am not sure the rest of the utility industry is in the same shape," he said.

He said Illinois Power developments, including new power plants and underground storage facilities for natural gas "have been paid for by the consumers in their rates. The customers paid for this reserve capacity. It would be unfortunate if the federal government diverted natural gas or electricity to other states not so fortunate," Mathias stated.

"However, if the shortage in some part of the country reaches the point where people are freezing and might die, I think—if we could take a vote of our customers—the customers would agree to give some energy to them," he indicated.

domestic supply available two or three years ago.

The United States uses 20 trillion cubic feet of natural gas each year. New discoveries netted only 17 trillion cubic feet last year.

He predicted imports of oil and natural gas will continue to increase. Last year, the U.S. spent $36 billion on imported oil. By 1980, the imported oil will increase to $45 billion and by 1985, it may exceed $100 billion, Hochanadel predicted.

Increased importing of liquefied natural gas from Algeria and elsewhere also is predicted.

William Peterson, director of the federal energy policy for the Midwest, noted that the highly developed nations comprise only about 18 per cent of the world's population, but account for 35 per cent of the energy consumption. As the Communist and Third World countries continue to develop, they will start requiring a higher percentage of the world's energy supply.

He said under-developed countries control 70 to 80 per cent of the world's energy reserves, but may not want to continue exporting it to the U.S. "This is why it is essential we come up with a viable energy policy to reduce our importing of energy," Peterson said.

All the experts reached agreement on several topics, including the unanimous conclusion that energy will become more expensive as supplies diminish.

They also agreed that the government will encourage testing of other forms of energy—solar, wind, tidal, coal gasification and others—but these alternate energy sources will not play a major role in meeting the nation's energy demands for at least the next 15 to 20 years.

Legion of Honor investiture

The Egyptian Preceptory Legion of Honor will hold an investiture at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, 1267 N. 37th St., Belleville, on Sunday, Nov. 20 at 2 p.m.

Twenty-four delegates from as far north as Bloomington and as far south as Marion will receive the DeMolay Active and Honorary distinction.

Delegates from Granite City are Dr. George T. Wilkins as active recipient, and C. Wayne Banks, Martin D. Love and Harry G. Sharp as honorary recipients.

South debaters in tournament

Two Granite City High School debate teams qualified with 4-0 records and entered the championship division of the Col's Invitational Speech Tournament held at Parkway Central High School of St. Louis County.

Kim Johnson and Dawn Hay made up one team, and Beth Eck and Doug Cook the other team from South in the championship division.

Out of 30 teams in the regular division, a South four-man team composed of Tim Kienle, Keith Melnich, John Longos and Vah Habeshian, qualified for quarterfinals with 3-1 records.

Floyd Peterson and Ken Melnich also participated in the tournament.

A total of 20 schools entered the Col's tournament.

Thanksgiving packs pounds of nutrition

Thanksgiving dinner has all the elements of a well-balanced meal. Traditional fare like turkey, ham, duck, homemade bread plus a variety of potatoes, vegetables and pies contain mounds of nutritional value.

But how one balances the consumption of nutrition, calories and cholesterol at the festive occasion will determine whether he gets the least from the feast or the most from the host.

It is difficult to tell a person to not eat foods he enjoys when he is not on a prescribed diet, says Marietta Advincula, assistant director of nutrition in the department of dietetics at the University of Illinois at the Medical Center, Chicago.

"This is especially difficult when the foods are traditional," she adds.

"All a dietitian can do is create an awareness of what the consequences might be. The important thing is to practice moderation."

Moderation is most important for those who are dieting, she notes. One may wisely avoid putting on extra pounds without diminishing the enjoyment of Thanksgiving dinner by following a few simple rules, she asserts.

First, do not duplicate the consumption of various food groups. For example, if you enjoy stuffing, stay away from other starches such as potatoes and dinner rolls.

Secondly, if you are one of the many who cannot just eat one or two snacks, avoid the dish of nuts and hors d'oeuvres. If you must eat nuts, walnuts have a high polyunsaturated fat content.

In addition, there is a method of eating turkey one can follow in getting the most nutrition and the least amount of calories and cholesterol. Miss Advincula advises that the most nutritious portions of the bird are the breast, leg and thigh.

"Stay away from the areas with high fat content like those behind the thigh and below the tail," she said. "Also, peel away the skin. A lot of people like the taste, but it is also high in saturated fats."

"Many people are becoming aware of better nutrition. Thus, even at Thanksgiving, cooks are using substitutes for high-cholesterol ingredients."

"A lot of people use egg substitutes, margarine instead of butter and skim or low-fat milk."

"They're also not making gravy as they used to."

"And though most don't skimp on the creation of luxurious desserts, such as homemade pies, they are also offering less-filling alternatives like fruit cups."

"Salads are also getting a different look as more and more people are opting for low-calorie lemon or vinegar dressings."

"Another salad dressing can be made from the herbs and spices in the solution at the bottom of pickle jars."

"This is good as long as one isn't watching his salt intake."

Despite these efforts to produce a healthier meal, even the best-laid plans of weight watchers may fail once they set eyes on the Thanksgiving spread.

But Miss Advincula says overeating once in awhile is generally not harmful for the healthy individual.

"Healthy persons who are not on a prescribed diet may also choose not to eat for up to a day before or after the Thanksgiving meal without experiencing a nutritional deficit."

"Studies have shown that people who nibble all day have less weight problems than those who eat a couple of very large meals."

"It is better not to gorge yourself and get bloated when you don't have a chance to burn off the calories."

"In fact, 3,500 more calories than an individual body needs per week turn into one pound of fat. That's something to think about before you gobble up the turkey, go top-wild over the ham, eat the potatoes, stalk the corn, and get a rise from the bread..."

Ears hurt after minor explosion

Two employees of A. O. Smith Corp. plant were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital this week, after a machine described as an air tank exploded, causing both to suffer discomfort in the ears.

Joseph F. Drete of O'Fallon, Ill., reported a continuous ringing sensation in his right ear, and Marvin Davis of Jerseyville said his ears felt "stopped up."

Both men had been standing near the machine. They were treated and released.

Shower honors Mrs. Winkle

A bridal shower was given at St. John Lutheran Church in honor of Mrs. Debbie Winkle, the former Debbie Jatho, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jatho of Columbia, Ill.

The honoree was married to Daniel M. Winkle, a son of Mrs. Marion Winkle of Granite City and the late Daniel F. Winkle, on Sept. 23, at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Columbia. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Marion Winkle, Mrs. Kathy Ellis, Mrs. Patty Zaruba, Mrs. Kathy Winkle and Mrs. Helen Rehms.

Blue and white streamers, clusters of white bells, and a three tier wedding cake made of towels, created by Mrs. Anne Raub, decorated the gift table. Pastel colored floral centerpieces accented the guest tables.

Thorngate Club sets yule party

The Thorngate Garden Club were entertained at the home of Miss Jean Bethel and Mrs. Edith Boler for the November meeting. Assisting was Mrs. Jane White, a sister of the hostesses.

Tables were decorated with fall flowers and favors were cookie cutters. After a noon luncheon the business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Helen Polley, president.

The success of a yard sale was discussed and the president expressed appreciation to Mrs. June Lux and her committee for entertaining the patients at the Troy Professional Home in Troy, on Oct. 18.

It was noted that each member has received a hand painted ceramic item from a special meeting, hosted by Mrs. Lillian Delpey, at Smalley's Ceramic Gift Shop in Alton.

A reading entitled "A Prayer of Praise" was given by Mrs. Clara Schilling and Miss Bethel recited poems, "Ode to October" and "Ode to November."

Others present were Wanda Herman, Betty King, June Lux, Pat Polley, Lillian Delpey, Wanda Kincaid and Miss June Markham.

The club Christmas party is scheduled for Dec. 15 at Lewis and Clark Restaurant, it was noted.

Federal retirees plan party

Chapter 1067 of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees discussed plans for a Christmas exchange at the next meeting on Dec. 12, during a regular meeting Monday at the Barrel Restaurant.

After the invocation and pledge of allegiance, led by Tharah Erney, luncheon was served to 16 persons, including a new member, Mrs. Marie Moore.

Plans were finalized for the Dec. 12 meeting which is to be held at the Heritage House in St. Louis. The program will include a gift exchange.

Ed Erney discussed the recent favorable vote by the House of Representatives, rejecting the merging of social security with the federal retirement system at this time.

Sumline committee chairman, Mayme Vallow, reported five cards were sent to shut-ins in October.

Larry Hengehold appointed an auditing committee consisting of Pauline Weir and Thelma Simmons who will submit their reports at the January meeting.

Howard Vallow, chairman of the nominating committee reported all current officers have agreed to serve in their present capacities for the next year.

The officers are: Larry Hengehold, president; Ed Erney, first vice-president; Adrian Copeland, second vice-president; Helen Carrington, secretary; and Helen Martin, treasurer. They were elected unanimously and will be installed at the December meeting.

Tharah Erney closed the meeting with a reading on "Some Thoughts for Thanksgiving."

Harry Kolb received a prize.

Cub Scouts tour fire department

Den Two cub scouts of Pack 103 sponsored by St. Margaret Mary School visited the Granite City fire department last week.

Tom Carnody, fireman, escorted the boys through the building and explained the equipment on the ambulance and fire trucks.

Those participating in the event were Larry Beyer, Jimmy Chomko, Mike Loyel, Lee Schreiber, Tom Shurdivant, Timmy Tegel, Jackie and Nina Beyer and Mrs. Marilyn Beyer and Mrs. Des Loyel.

Senior Citizens set Thanksgiving dinner

The Granite City Council of Senior Citizens completed plans for a Thanksgiving dinner to be served at the center, 1800 Edison Ave., on Wednesday, Nov. 23, during a meeting held at the center.

President Edgar Paddock presided and announced the center will be closed on Thanksgiving Day but will be opened on Friday although no meals will be served on Friday.

A report on the progress of the new township building was discussed by the group.

The president opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer and members repeated the pledge to the flag in unison.

An auditing committee was also appointed at the meeting.

Eagles Auxiliary fete past officers

Past presidents of the Eagles Auxiliary 1126 were accorded special honors at the auxiliary's 49th anniversary celebration held at the Eagles Aerie.

A large birthday cake centered the altar as each past officer would light a candle denoting her year of service. In memory of deceased officers Mrs. Esther Thornton provided lighted candles and the president Mrs. Phyllis Seka honored all charter members with a large candle.

As the candles were extinguished Mrs. Angie Buehler presented each officer present with a gift.

Those honored were Ann Hordesky, Mary Korogoc, Hazel Pierson, Angie Buehler, Elizabeth Novich, Vi Strunk, Juanita Blevins, Florida Batson, Delores Klesh, Ann Konekha, Florence Hagnauer, Helen Lipchik, Helen Frazier, Nancy Mullen, Billie Schuller and Ruth Paubel.

During the business session reports were submitted by Mrs. Hagnauer, visiting chairman, Mrs. Blevins, ways and means chairman and Mrs. Frazier, secretary.

Mrs. Frazier also announced five new members: Buehler, Dolores Faltioni, Peggy Wilbur, Joann Schall and Barbara Frazier, were initiated at the District 8 meeting.

Holy Land tour group to return during weekend

The Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor of the Nameoki Presbyterian Church, and a group of area residents are scheduled to leave Rome, Italy, tomorrow, for the flight home from a 15-day tour of the Holy Land and Rome.

The tour group which included Rev. Pierson's wife, Marion, and his youngest son, Andrew, also was made up of Genevieve McComis, Louise Thompson, Vivian Winter, Dorothy Strobl and Mildred Sandweg, all of Granite City.

They were joined in the trip, which began Nov. 4, by a group from the Philadelphia area, led by the Rev. David Livingston.

Esther Class aids mission

The Esther Class of Suburban Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Wanda Bradford and completed plans for Christmas projects.

Mrs. Ella Mae Watts, president, was in charge of the session and the devotional, taken from Mark 12, was given by Imogene Smith.

The December meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Helen Cook, class teacher. Those attending are to bring a gift which will be taken to the Maryville nursing home as a Christmas present.

Members also agreed to donate to the Little Moon foreign mission fund, to be distributed during December to foreign mission work.

The president announced a gift was sent to a member Mrs. Ruth Bunker who is a hospital patient and a card was sent to Mrs. Mildred Lewis, who is ill at home.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to those unable to attend and to Mesdames Mary Lou Summers, Susie Horton and Edna Jackson.

Luncheon was served by the president assisted by Lola Barylaski and Anna Reed. Prizes were won by Judy Halbrook and Shirley Robinson.

During a meeting held last week a report was given by Mrs. Hagnauer on members who are ill. She noted cards were sent to Lucy Baumeier, Vernest VonNida, Sylvia Oczpek and Edna Wyatt.

Mrs. Blevins reviewed the Christmas calendar project and Kathy Reed discussed plans for the Aerie Christmas party to be given for children of the members.

Other announcements related to the Golden Eagle fund by Mrs. Schuller and Mrs. Halbrook and on the Illinois-Indiana conference held in Peoria, by Mrs. Buehler.

Mrs. Schuller said an officers meeting will be held jointly with the Aerie at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, to be followed by an auxiliary session at 8 p.m.

She also reported the auxiliary holiday dinner party is set for 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 13 and those attending are to bring a covered dish and gift for exchange.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Schuller and Mrs. Halbrook and prizes were presented to Mrs. Ann Rickert and Mrs. Buehler.

C., receives congratulations from his senior drill instructor, Staff Sergeant P. J. Seymour, following recruit graduation ceremonies. Pfc. Promote, honor Marine Private First Class Raymond L. Ramirez has been selected outstanding man of Platoon 2079, Second Recruit Training Battalion, Marine Corps Recruit Depot (MCRD), Parris Island, S. C.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wilkinson, 2328 E. 24th St., and a 1977 graduate of Granite City High School South.

His selection as "outstanding man" was announced at recent recruit graduation ceremonies at Parris Island on the basis of his leadership abilities, enthusiasm, esprit de corps and overall performance during recruit training.

Pfc. Ramirez received a meritorious promotion to his present rank and a Marine dress blue uniform for his accomplishment.

Immediately following graduation, he served as assistant to Marine Gunnery Sergeant Edward Estok, Marine Corps recruit at the Granite City Marine Recruiting Center, 1210 Niedringhaus Ave.

Pfc. Ramirez currently is assigned to a weapons training course at the Infantry Training School, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

He is expected to complete the schooling Nov. 30 and return home for a 10-day leave prior to assignment overseas, according to the serviceman's family.

Pfc. Ramirez enlisted in the Marine Corps after graduating at South High School in June.

Credit union is honored

Industrial Credit Union, 1400 State St., has been honored by the Credit Union National Association, Inc., this week on the occasion of its 25th anniversary.

In a message to the Industrial Credit Union's board of directors, CUNA Managing Director Herb Wegner said, "You should take great pride in your accomplishments in helping people help themselves and influencing their economic destiny. These accomplishments have been evidenced by the alleviation of financial worries, the improvement of living standards, and bringing education within the reach of many."

The credit union was chartered in 1952 to serve the employees of the Dow Chemical Co., Madison. The charter was expanded in January 1972, enabling the credit union to serve the employees of any metals industry within the Granite City area. It now serves 12 industries in the metals field, has 2,118 members and total assets have reached over $2 million, according to Eileen Tritsch, office manager.

The credit union is managed by 15 volunteer directors. Darrell Fricke is now serving as president and William Kuzmin Jr. as treasurer-manager. They said that any metals industry that is not now being served by a credit union and interested in doing so should contact the office at any time and every effort will be made to make credit union services available to the employees.

Industrial Credit Union is one of almost 22,000 credit unions serving more than 82 million Americans. Cuna is the national trade association for U.S. credit unions.

Deaths for the ten-month period totaled 461, up from 417 during the same period last year. Spray paint on houses and car

Jerry Fish, 3215 Kilarney Drive, discovered the front and left side of his station wagon were sprayed, as was the northeast corner of his house. TAKE HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

Dave Bowman, 1215 Edwardsville Road, reported a burglary at his home Monday, in which the thief stole a Kirby vacuum cleaner, valued at $500, a steam iron worth $30, a wall plaque, $3, and pots and pans valued at $50.

Proverbs 15:16 Better is little with the fear of the Lord than great treasure and trouble therewith.
This Scripture does not imply that being poor will keep you close to God. Nor should we confuse the words "fear of the Lord." This merely means to have respect for God. We should never be afraid of Him. It does convey the message that a relationship with God is more important than great wealth, joy, peace, and happiness in God is worth more than all the wealth of this world. Indeed, what shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his soul? Riches so desirable to help us enjoy the good life have one great disadvantage. They make us so independent we seldom do not feel that we owe the Lord. That attitude spells trouble for without Him we can do nothing in the greatness of the Lord is fullness of joy! Draw close to Him. Today.

Biology program producing highly skilled medical technologists here

A student who graduates with a degree in biology with a specialization in medical technology from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be well-trained for a highly responsible job, according to the coordinator of the program.

Douglas Eder, assistant professor of biological sciences, says medical technologists are valuable to a physician. Such a technologist obtains blood, fluid and tissue from patients and performs tests in order to assist medical doctors in the diagnosis and control of diseases.

A trained technologist is also capable of supervising laboratory work of other employees and can teach students and other newcomers, as well as participate in research. The technologist also is trained to repair malfunctioning lab equipment.

Though many technologists work in hospital labs, they also find employment in doctors' offices, industrial, governmental and military labs, pharmaceutical companies and university research programs.

The medical technology program at SIUE consists of three years of academic studies and a one-year intern program. The student may, however, complete his degree in four academic years and intern a fifth year.

The SIUE internship program trains students in urinalysis, bacteriology, parasitology, chemistry, blood-banking, serology, mycology and nuclear medicine.

The student will also learn both the theory and practice of running quantitative analysis by hand and by machine, Eder said; the student learns through lectures and receives a extensive lab training during his internship.

The technologist's function, according to Eder, is not an interpretive one. Though he may recognize a particular type of cell malfunction, his responsibility is not to interpret or diagnose an illness. The technician presents his findings to the physician, who in turn will diagnose and recommend treatment.

The School of Science and Technology offers degrees in other technical fields as well of the five degrees offered — biology, chemistry, engineering, mathematics and physics — 650 students currently are declared science and technology majors.

Many of them, according to the school's dean, Lionel Walford, will graduate with jobs in their field of specialization.

Eye in space tallies crop data in Illinois

(Press-Record Washington Bureau)

Agricultural experts no longer may be earth-bound in their attempts to gauge acreage, yields, and health of certain crops.

Satellites have potential for improving upon land-based estimates, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture on a pilot study involving Illinois crops.

Sensors on the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's LANDSAT II satellite were used to record data on Illinois crops.

That data was matched with information from the traditional land-based sources, and the results, having been encouraging in some areas, according to the USDA's Statistical Reporting Service, the USDA's remote sensing coordinator.

From the tapes, scientists constructed images on film similar to photographs, Strickland told the Press-Record.

That data on acreage planted can be combined with information obtained on the ground regarding time of planting, types of crops, regions, weather conditions and crop history to aid in forecasting yields, he said.

The sensors can even provide information on the health of the crop by recording the amount of chlorophyll present, Strickland said.

Still in its infancy, the system is not without its problems.

It works best with large areas, and it was found to be ineffective in improving acreage estimates for alfalfa, other hay, and pasture. It is difficult for the sensors to differentiate between alfalfa and hay.

The effectiveness also is limited by crop growth, percentage of cultivated land, and presence of ground covers which might confuse the sensors.

At several times during the growing season, LANDSAT could not readily distinguish between trees and corn.

There also are problems of cost and timeliness. While Strickland could not pinpoint costs — since the crop survey is part of the overall earth-monitoring program — he said time in processing needs to be shortened.

"The satellite only comes over every 18 days, which is not bad in itself," he said.

"But the information has to be pre-processed by NASA, and then it is sent to the Earth Resources Information Center at Sioux Falls, S. D."

There now is a span of about 30 days between the time the satellite records the information and it reaches the hands of the analysts.

"It does give us an early warning system," he said. "On the whole, the system has worked. But we are trying to get something more timely and cost-effective."

The system also aids in measuring crops in foreign lands, but Strickland said it is not a matter of having an agricultural spy-in-the-sky.

"We have been making crop forecasts in Russia, and they know it," he said.

Use of the satellites is viewed as an auxiliary to, and not a substitute for, land-based information gathering. But as the system improves the accuracy of forecasts, it could lead to a decrease in land-based services, he said.

"Now it is just a different way of getting the same types of information that they get on the ground," he said.

"We will continue to improve the system, and we will put up a better sensor on LANDSAT C, which goes up in 1978."

Illinois was selected for the initial study because of its large fields, corn crops and supply of historical data.

It is not known yet what other states might be included when LANDSAT C starts monitoring, but there again will be an "eye" in space keeping track of Illinois crops.

Scouting produces excellence—speaker

The adult volunteers who lead scouting organizations were praised during the weekend by Dr. Kenneth A. Shaw for efforts which help produce "the kind of excellence our society desperately needs."

Dr. Shaw, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, addressed the Illinois District's annual adult scout leader recognition dinner at the Trinity Lutheran symposium in Edwardsville.

"It is the voluntary service that citizens like you perform that is the guiding genius of a free society," the university president said.

"Our way of life and our form of government require leaders. Some of the traits required of those who would be good leaders are: the ability to include confidence, skills in working in groups, being a good listener, caring how others feel, and having the sense and courage to act when the time is right."

"Scouting is concerned with developing these traits, and those of us who are concerned with working with young people should pick up our efforts in these directions."

Dr. Shaw said competence is basic to confidence. "We begin to acquire confidence by being able to focus on one activity, and to pursue it with discipline until we have proved our competence in it. After a while, we find that competence is contagious."

"If we can encourage young people to develop a basic sense of competence, they gradually develop the confidence they have in themselves. They begin to believe they can be leaders."

The president warned that leadership cannot be exercised in isolation. "Most of life requires that we work with others; we must also care about doing that well, too."

Emphasizing the importance of being a good listener, Dr. Shaw said, "The best way to head off misunderstanding is to understand what others are saying in the first place. Listening demands, above all, undistracted concentration."

On the subject of "caring," Dr. Shaw urged empathy. He explained, "Empathy is active care about what others feel, to the extent that we actually share those feelings."

"It's not enough, in the long run, to say that we care; we have to show it."

Part of the guiding wisdom of scouting, the president said, is "the gradual manner, step by careful step, in which leadership is developed."

"Careful action demands that one does not rush headlong into everything," Dr. Shaw said.

"Too many leaders rush forward only to find themselves all alone on the edge of a cliff."

"If you'll notice, playing this role is not easy. This is because success depends on practicing what we preach — and sometimes surprising ourselves by doing even better than our best."

Jerry Bartlett is reassigned.

Staff Sergeant Jerry L. Bartlett, son of Mrs. Betty Bartlett, 2334 Palmer Ave., has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for assigned to Mather AFB, Calif., for duty with a unit of the Air Training Command. Completion of the course earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman, a 1965 graduate of Venice High School, attended the University of Hawaii.

His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Knipprath of Clovis, N. M.

Japan culture academy topic

Takui Yamazaki, a native of Japan, visited Lakeview Christian Academy, 3910 Highway 111, to tell the students something of his native land. He showed slides of Japan, discussed the people, the music, and the churches of Japan.

Yamazaki is an accomplished flutist and played two numbers for the students.

At the request of Principal John Lamb, Yamazaki prepared a Japanese meal of curried chicken over rice and rice crackers wrapped in seaweed.

The students sampled the meal as each tried his hand eating with chopsticks.

Yamazaki has finished his college work at Tennessee Temple Schools, Chattanooga, and plans to return to Japan next month.

Academic awards for the first quarter at the school were announced.

Highest grade average for grades one through four was Scott Bossetto; five through eight, Debbie Bonner, and grades nine through 12, Karen Williams.

Awards for the most work completed went to Carrie Nagy for grades one through four; Keith Adams, five through eight, and Darlene Stewart, nine through 12.

THE ART OF CHOPSTICKS. Kindergartener Kellie Duskie, left, and First Grader Lauri Gray concentrate on the art of using chopsticks at the Lakeview Christian Academy. The youngsters tried the chopsticks when Takui Yamazaki, a visiting native of Japan, prepared a Japanese meal of curried chicken and rice.

State opens office for 'taking care of business'

Governor James R. Thompson announced Tuesday the creation of the Illinois Office of Business Information in the Springfield headquarters of the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development.

He said the Office of Business Information staff is equipped and authorized to answer questions, provide assistance and solve problems concerning state governmental rules and regulations related to all state departments or agencies for any businessman, legislator or public official in Illinois.

"This is another tangible example of taking care of business — taking care of jobs in Illinois," the governor said. "The new office is designed to cut some of the 'red tape' — crossways, not lengthwise — that strangles and confuses some of our businesses."

"The IOB staff will provide prompt, one-stop service to assist the businessman," the governor said, "and we mean to make it work so that businessmen are happier in Illinois and contribute more to the state's employment and prosperity."

To reach the staff, Illinois residents can call toll free 800-252-2923. Non-Illinois residents may call 217-782-7500. The office is located at 222 S. College St. Springfield 62706.

GRANITE CITY BOARD OF REALTORS DID YOU KNOW?

The costliest place in the Nation to buy a new home in July was the San Francisco area, where prices averaged $78,000. Honolulu was most expensive for existing homes, at $91,500.

In a new report, the MIT — Harvard Joint Center for Urban Studies predicts that the typical new house will cost $78,000 in 5 years. The current average purchase price of a new home as of July was $53,700, up from $53,100 in June. A year earlier, the level stood at $49,400.

With the public willing and now able to buy homes, the construction industry is triggering some strong economic growth says Michael Sumichast, an official of the National Association of Home Builders.

According to a monthly statement prepared by the National Association of Realtors the current year likely will be the best ever for existing single-family home market.

TODAY is a booming market. If you are in a position to do so there's never been a better time to buy. Nor is there likely to be a better time in the future, so come on in. The market is fine. And remember: Use a Professional Realtor, we can HELP, that's why we are PROFESSIONALS.

Future Secretaries hear guest speakers

Steve Jones, assistant principal at South High School, and L. E. Lindsey, president of the Lindsey Construction Co., and "boss of the year" of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association, were the guest speakers at a meeting of the Future Secretaries Association.

The guests outlined requirements secretaries should keep in mind when preparing for job interviews and after employment.

Jones expressed what a secretary should not do on the job, such as giving out unnecessary information and feeling more important than the boss. He also stressed the importance of stenographic skills and added many executives would rather talk to a secretary than a transcribing machine. Appearance, personal habits, good judgment, courtesy and appropriate dress are among the major qualifications employers look for when interviewing secretaries for a job, he added.

Lindsey spoke on qualities that he appreciates in a secretary. Being able to read your boss' moods and expectations and doing the little extra things are appreciated more than a secretary realizes, he said. Top assets a secretary can possess is to appear busy in the office even when the work load is slow, keep confidential records confidential, and utilize the work day to utmost efficiency. Always remain loyal to the company where you are employed and make first impressions pleasant ones, whether you receive the caller in person or over the telephone, Lindsey added.

GC Bible Week is proclaimed

The week of Nov. 20 to 27 has been proclaimed "Bible Week" in a proclamation issued by Mayor Paul Schuler.

Noting that "the recovery of the moral and spiritual principles of the Bible remain a high priority goal as we move into America's third century," the proclamation also set out that "all the major religious groups and hundreds of clubs and organizations are united behind the Layman's National Bible Committee's program to motivate Bible reading."

The proclamation concluded that the week was being observed "in recognition of the importance of the Bible and its teachings."

Winter carnival at Sacred Heart

Final plans for the Sacred Heart Parent Teacher Organization's winter carnival Dec. 4 were discussed at Thursday's meeting. A chicken dinner will be served buffet style, with tickets being mailed to each parishioner. Adult tickets will be $3.25 and for children five to 12 years of age the cost will be $1.50. Any child four and under will be served free.

Various game-type booths will be available in the gym along with a plant stand, sweet shop and cake walk.

A large country store, with hand-crafted items, will be located in the basement area of the school next to the cafeteria. A quilt, Afghan and various items donated by businesses will be given away.

Both men and women are needed to work, and volunteers may call 876-6716 from 9 to 3 or 877-1665 after 6 p.m. was announced. Anyone having good, useful toys, games or craft items is being asked to bring them to the school before Dec. 2.

Mrs. Jeanette Baldwin, a reading teacher who was recently hired, was introduced to the parents by Sr. Anne de Montfort, principal. Mrs. Sylvia Zabawa, president, announced the new custodian for the school is Charles York.

Barbara Walker, Campbell label chairman, said there are 1,400 labels so far this year, and mentioned that Franco American product labels are also acceptable. Another paper drive will be held in December, possibly the weekend following the winter carnival. The PTO made $123 from its last paper drive, held in October.

Mrs. Mary Marti's third grade class won the room count. Refreshments were served by the seventh grade room mothers.

In Loving Memory of

LOUIS (BUTCH) BOSKAY November 22, 1874 - 1977

I have lost my life's companion. A life linked with my own. And every day I miss him more as I walk through life alone. No one knows the silent heartaches. Only those who have lost can tell.

Oh the grief I bear in silence. For the one I loved so well. I never knew that hearts could ache. With such a bitter pain. Longing for a vanishing face. To hear his voice again. I never knew that nights could be so lonely.

Because of losing him. If all the world were mine to give. I would give it all and more. To see his face I loved so dear. Come smiling through my door. Sadly missed by Wife and All those who loved him 33 11 21

Petrie playing on SSU soccer squad

Larry Petri, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Petri, 1725 Moro Ave., Granite City, and the former most valuable player for the Belleville Area College soccer team, has been playing defensive back this fall with the

Sangamon State University

Prairie Stars.

Fielding an intercollegiate soccer team for the first time this year, Sangamon State University has received a post-season tournament bid by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

"It's great, but I don't know whether to believe it," said Petri. "Early in the season, our coach, Aydin Goulsen, was hoping for a little better than a 500 season."

Petri and the Prairie Stars posted a won-lost record of 13-7. The SSU squad has been ranked No. 2 in the NAIA District 20, which is comprised of 12 teams. SSU is meeting Lewis University this week in postseason play. The winner of that match will play on Saturday for the District 20 championship. SSU Coach Goulsen said, "Larry has been a valuable player for us; he's a good halfback and also has had the ability to help the team in the goalie position."

Support for the university's first venture into intercollegiate sports has been excellent. Attendance at weekend home games has ranged between 1,000 to 2,000 fans. The games have been broadcast on radio and television.

Petri, an SSU junior is studying management at Sangamon State. "It's a good educational school," he said. "The instructors make you get the most out of it."

New pheasant season opens

Hunters who became active upon the opening of the pheasant season Nov. 12 are being advised that the ringneck is not as plentiful this fall as it was last year.

Richard E. Warner, a wildlife biologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey, a division of the Department of Registration and Education, indicates that numbers of pheasants are down 40 to 60 percent from 1976 in the east-central counties, Illinois' prime pheasant range.

He cites changes in farming practices as the major factor contributing to pheasant population declines. As corn and soybean farming has expanded, particularly since the early 1960s, habitat important to the ringneck's reproductive and overwintering activities has been largely eliminated. The pheasant's diminished status in recent years was further aggravated in January 1977, when an unusually severe winter storm caused substantial losses of pheasants in many portions of the state.

The pheasant season this fall began Saturday and will extend through Jan. 15. The bag limit is set at two cocks per day.

Hunters should obtain permission from farm operators before going into a field. Landowners desiring to establish cover for pheasants and other wildlife species are being encouraged to contact their regional Department of Conservation office for information.

Ron Jones, III. State five ready for '77-78

Illinois State University (Normal, Ill.) will preview its basketball season with the annual Red-White intrasquad contest, scheduled for this week at Horton Field House. Ron Jones, a Madison High School graduate, will be among the starters.

A 30-minute game is planned with no halftime break. Assistant Coaches Bill Flanagan and Jeff Jones will direct the teams, with Head Coach Gene Smithson and four staff members observing the action from the press box.

Flanagan's White team has veterans Billy Lewis of Chicago Farragut, Del Yarbrough of North Chicago, Jones of Madison and Rick Fortina of Niles Notre Dame, joined by freshmen McKay Smith of Springfield Southeast and Anthony Jones of Chicago Westinghouse.

The Red team, coached by Jeff Jones, has lettermen Joe Galvin of Bloomington, Robert McCoy of Chicago Heights Bloom, Derrick Mayes of Elgin and Larry Lowe of Bloom, plus freshmen Randy Smithson of Normal and Roy Herold of Elmhurst, Finland. Another freshman, guard Dave Nussbaumer of Fairfax, Va., will alternate with both squads. He's a transfer student who will be eligible in the second semester.

"The teams have been divided to make them as equal as possible," Coach Smithson said. "But the lineups could be changed, depending on injuries."

The Redbirds have one casualty from the pre-season sessions, and it's Smithson's son, Randy. The former Normal Community prep all-America guard, has not scrimmaged since receiving a shoulder injury on the last day of October. He was injured in a loose ball situation.

Otherwise, Smithson is pleased with his squad's progress in preparation for the Nov. 26 opener at St. Louis University.

"We're showing overall better ballhandling and better quickness," Smithson commented as a comparison with last season's team that posted a 22-7 record and reached the National Invitational Tournament quarterfinals. The lone starter lost from that team was center Jeff Wilkins, and Bloomington sophomore Galvin has that position locked up.

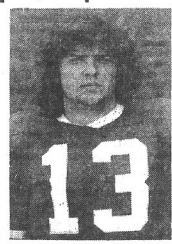

Galvin, now a half-inch over seven feet tall, has boosted his weight from 200 to 212 pounds with no loss of speed.

Going the other way is Yarbrough, a brawny 6-7 1/2 sophomore forward who reported a year ago weighing 244 pounds. He finished last season at 218, and is now even trimmer at 215.

Corey on championship teams

Greg Corey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Corey of Nameki Road, Granite City, is a member of the Millikin University football team at Decatur that claimed the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin championship. Corey, a freshman quarterback and kicker, is a graduate of Granite City North, where he was captain and quarterback of the football team and a baseball letterman.

'You'll be amazed' theme of open house program at South

"You'll Be Amazed" is the theme of an open house program to be held Tuesday, Nov. 22, at Granite City High School South from 7 until 8:45 p.m.

"We at South believe that important educational experiences cannot be achieved without the parents', teachers' and students' sincere efforts to work together for this goal. It is only by working together that we can assure to all young persons the education to which they are entitled," James Dumont, South principal, said.

"Last year, South parents were asked to complete a Parent Opinion Survey during American Education Week. Of the parents who responded, 98 percent indicated that they would attend an evening open house so we have planned one. We are providing the opportunity for parents to ask questions and make suggestions, to meet faculty members, to see students at work, to have the blood pressures checked free of charge, and to learn the Heimlich Maneuver.

"We are looking forward to a really great turnout at our open house on Tuesday," Dumont said.

From 6:45 until 7 p.m. the Stage Band will perform in the auditorium, and from 7 p.m. until 7:45 p.m. a panel discussion will be held on the topics of discipline and "Back to Basics," which will be followed by a question and answer session.

Varied activities for parents to visit will be held from 7:45 to 8:45 p.m. These will include parent discussions with teachers, art department student demonstrations and displays in Rooms D19 and D33; business department in Room K158 will present a student data processing demonstration; drivers education will give a demonstration of driving simulators in Room C159. The health classes will demonstrate the "Heimlich Maneuver" in Room A115.

The Home Economics department will be busy in five rooms. Room 206, students will decorate cookies with samples available; Room 248, foreign foods with samples; Room 210, home furnishings with demonstrations of craft projects; Room 214, crocheting, knitting and machine quilting, and in Room 220, teachers' conferences.

Industrial occupations: Room 112, vocational machine shop; Room 138, vocational drafting; Room 126, heating and air conditioning; Room B122, wood shop including display of building trades house; Room A122, electric demonstration; Room 128, welding; Room 134, drafting, woods and special education shop; and Room 070, electric shop.

In Room A115, free blood pressure tests will be given by the school nurse.

The band will be in rehearsal in Room 141 and a vocal rehearsal will be in Room 135. Boy's gym will feature a basketball scrimmage and wrestling, while in the girl's gym there will be badminton and social dance demonstration.

The science department will have in Room 119 a biology demonstration and display; Room 252, explanation of throat culture program with a free ticket for strep throat and a student chemistry demonstration "Analysis of Unknown" in Room 236.

Other departments also having special demonstrations and displays include speech, special education, social studies, mathematics, library, guidance, foreign language, health occupations and English. School administrators will be in the auditorium.

"We have tried to plan something for everyone," Sonya Aderson, chairperson for the South 1977 American Education Week Committee, said.

Members of the committee at South are LaVerna Corbett, Betty Bartels, Al Lewis, Ann Rich, Bill Smoltz, Murriel Kratz and Phyllis Weiss.

A complete listing will be given to everyone attending to help them pick out and find the areas that interest them.

KEEPING YOU POSTED

Turkeys — long popular for holiday entertaining — now have become a year-round favorite. Here are some hints to help your family enjoy the festive bird:
How To Buy: There's a choice to suit every family at your Kroger store. In addition to the familiar frozen turkeys, now you'll find a new taste treat — fresh "chill-pack" turkeys and turkey parts — held at a very cold temperature just above freezing (the ideal temperature to maintain fresh poultry quality until cooked). You'll notice a few ice crystals but the turkey has never been frozen. Allow 1-1 lb. per serving under 12 lb. Over 12 lb., allow 1 1/2-2 lb.
Storage: Fresh Chill-Pack Turkeys may be kept in the refrigerator until ready to cook. Keep frozen turkeys in the freezer until ready to thaw.
Thawing: Never thaw frozen turkeys at room temperature or under hot water. Thaw in the original plastic bag in refrigerator...24 hours for each 8 pounds. Roast thawed turkey within 24 hours. And don't stuff the turkey until you're ready to roast it!
Leftovers: Refrigerate or freeze leftover turkey immediately after dinner. And remember — an extra "planned-over" meal from your turkey stretches your food dollar.
